

BMO Target Education Portfolios

A smart and simple investment in your child's education.

We make it simple!

BMO Target Education Portfolios are designed to reduce the impact of equity market swings as your child approaches the year in which they will start their post-secondary education. Once the Portfolio has reached its target date, your child's assets will be switched into the BMO Target Education Income Portfolio to provide capital preservation and stable income as your child starts to draw down their money.

Give your RESP an Education in Smart Investing

With the cost of tuition rising every year, many parents are concerned about how they're going to pay for their children's post-secondary education. The best place to start is by considering a Registered Education Savings Plan (RESP).

Once you have opened an RESP for your child, your next step is to choose the most suitable investment solution to help build your child's education savings. BMO Target Education Portfolios make saving for your child's education easier.

BMO Target Education Portfolios offer:

1

A professionally managed portfolio

The team of experts at BMO Asset Management Inc. will build and maintain your portfolio and taking the hard work out of investing for your child's future.

2

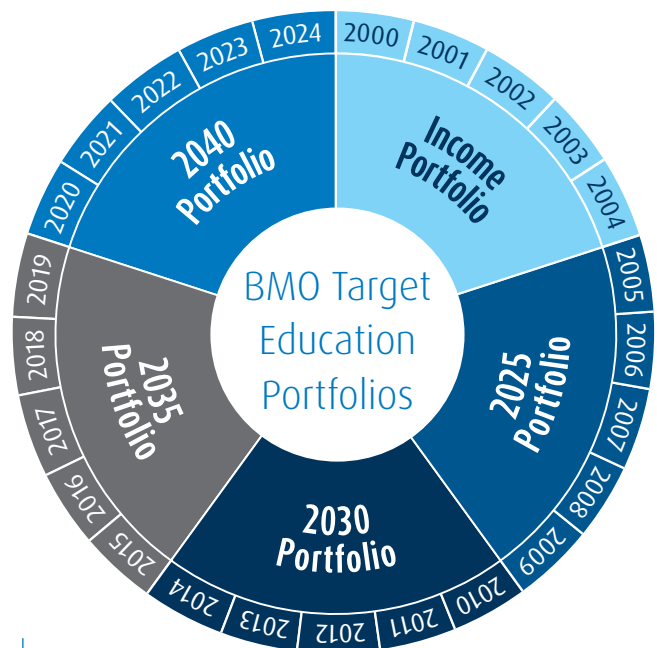

A portfolio that is specifically designed with your child in mind

In designing a portfolio that is tailored to the time when your child will attend a post-secondary institution, BMO Asset Management Inc. focuses on achieving growth in the early years. The portfolio gradually becomes more conservative the closer your child gets to using the money you have saved for their education. You can sleep easier knowing your money is always properly invested.

3

BMO Asset Management Inc.'s best ideas

BMO Target Education Portfolios use a mix of our mutual funds and low-cost exchange-traded funds (ETFs) to ensure you always have BMO Asset Management Inc.'s best ideas working for you.

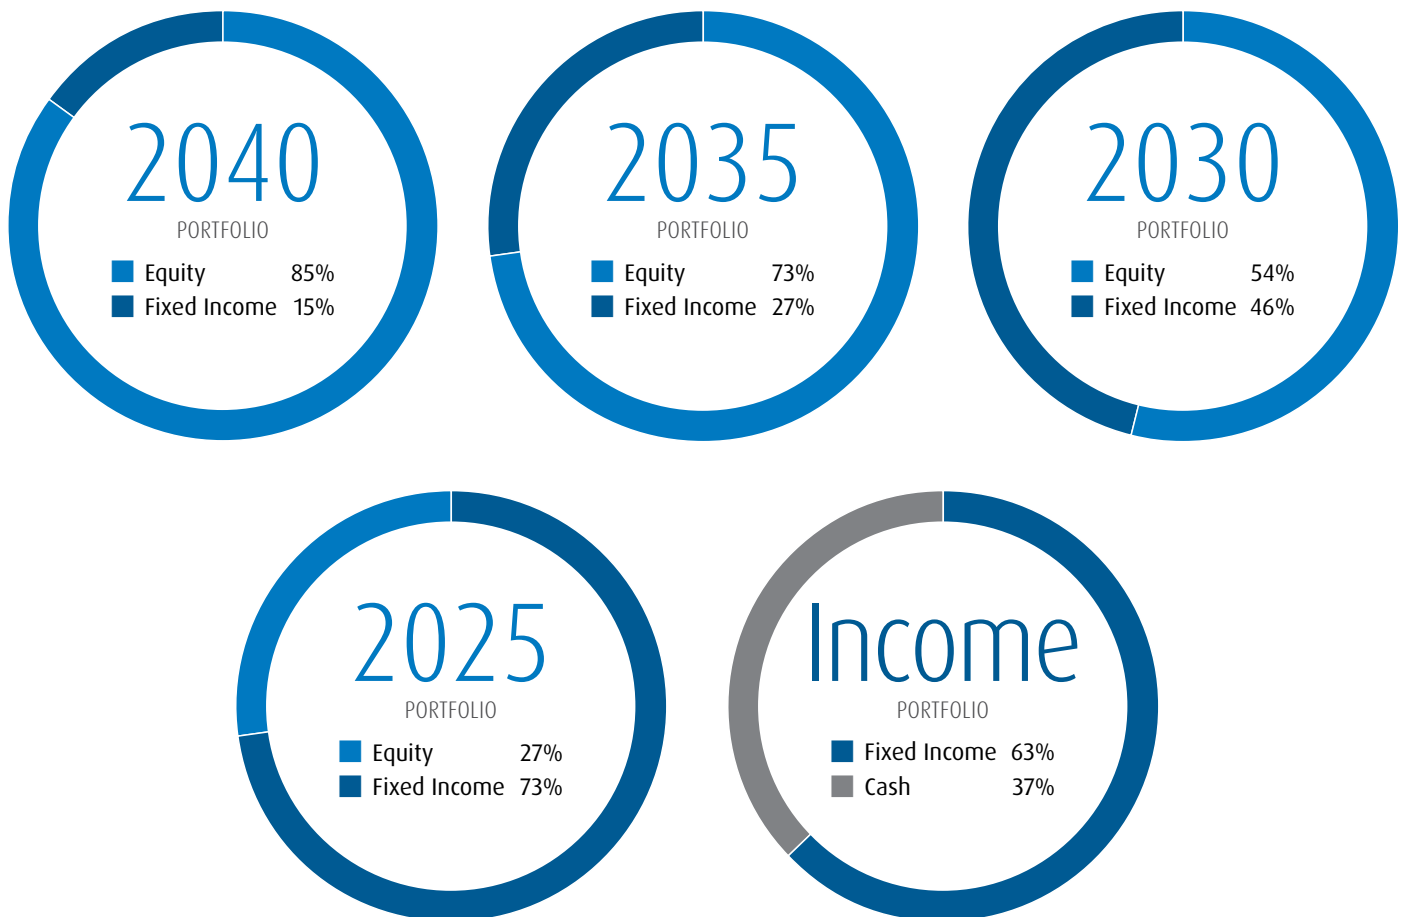

Your child's year of birth – the outside circle above – will point you to the right BMO Target Education Portfolio!

Get to know BMO Target Education Portfolios

As each BMO Target Education Portfolio's target end date approaches, the fund will gradually shift its asset mix from an exposure that is primarily invested in growth-oriented investments such as equity mutual funds and ETFs, to an exposure that is more heavily weighted in fixed-income mutual funds and ETFs. By becoming more conservative as the target date approaches, these funds allow you to hold a single portfolio throughout the life of your education savings, reducing the need to rebalance the portfolio and helping to insulate against sudden drops in the market.

How are BMO Target Education Portfolios invested?*

*Portfolio Weighting as of Q4 2021

RESP basics

RESPs offer a number of great benefits including:

Tax-deferred growth

Any gains achieved within the RESP will not be taxed until your money is withdrawn from the RESP in the form of educational assistance payments (EAPs). When withdrawn, EAPs are taxed in the hands of the beneficiary and are likely subject to a low tax rate.

Canada Education Savings Grant

The Government of Canada contributes a certain amount of money into the RESP on behalf of the child in the form of a Canada Education Savings Grant (CESG). The amount contributed by the government is up to 20% for the first $2,500 contributed by the subscriber per beneficiary per year, up to a maximum of $500 per year and a lifetime maximum of $7,200.

Additional grants

If you are a resident of Saskatchewan, Québec or British Columbia, or if you are a lower income family, you may qualify for additional grants from your provincial government.

In recent years, the number and types of post-secondary educational institutions that qualify for payments from an RESP have increased dramatically to include almost any type of post-secondary education the child may choose.

Learn more about BMO Target Education Portfolios

For more information on RESPs, as well as most appropriate investment selections to suit your family's needs, please visit your local branch or call the BMO Investment Centre.

TIPS

Did you know?

There are two types of RESPs available:

One child

Individual (or Specified) plans are designed for one person only, making them more suitable for single-child families. And, if you are setting up an RESP for someone who is not related to you, this is the only plan option available.

Multiple children

Family plans are appealing if you have more than one child whom you'd like to name as beneficiaries because the funds held within the RESP can be used by one child if the other(s) decide not to attend a post-secondary institution. You can add or remove beneficiaries

Let's connect

Talk with us
1-800-665-7700

Learn more
bmo.com/resp

This report is for informational purposes only and is not and should not be construed as, professional advice to any individual. Individuals should contact their BMO representative for professional advice regarding their personal circumstances and/or financial position. The information contained in this report is based on material believed to be reliable, but BMO Financial Group cannot guarantee the information is accurate or complete.

Commissions, trailing commissions (if applicable), management fees and expenses all may be associated with mutual fund investments. Please read the fund facts or prospectus of the relevant mutual fund before investing. Mutual funds are not guaranteed, their values change frequently and past performance may not be repeated. Distributions are not guaranteed and are subject to change and/or elimination.

For a summary of the risks of an investment in BMO Mutual Funds, please see the specific risks set out in the prospectus. BMO Mutual Funds are managed by BMO Investments Inc., which is an investment fund manager and a separate legal entity from Bank of Montreal.

©/™ Registered trade-marks/trade-mark of Bank of Montreal, used under licence